Death of D. A. Sinclair

News of the death of Donald A. Sinclair, one of Blairmore's most prominent and respected citizens, came as a shock to the people of The Pass on Tuesday morning. While Mr. Sinclair had been ailing for some time, no one thought that the end was so near. For some time past he had not been enjoying his usual vigor, so that it became necessary to enter hospital where, after but a few days, he succumbed to heart failure. Mr. Sinclair was forty-three years of age, and came to Blairmore about fourteen years ago, settling down here in business in the partnership of Messrs. Frayer & Sinclair, contractors and builders. The senior partner of the firm, Thomas Frayer, passed away several years ago, and the business since then has been conducted under the style of D. A. Sinclair. For a number of years he held office as councillor and member of the school board, and served two full terms as chief magistrate of the town of Blairmore. He leaves a wife and three children, residing here, one brother at Field, B. C., another at Oyen, Alberta, while his parents and other members of the family reside at Chesley, Ontario.

Funeral takes place tomorrow, Saturday afternoon, from the new residence, opposite Central Union church, to the Blairmore cemetery.

The Professor's Bulletin

No. 18. "I SHOULD HAVE LIKED TO HAVE HAD." Now, theoretically, this is just a possible grammatical construction; but, practically, the chances are that you will not need to use this particular construction often more than once in ten thousand times. Therefore, I do not intend to blacklist the above as being absolutely incorrect. What I really want to do is to point out that this particular type of "double perfect" construction is very often misused, where the speaker or writer should express himself either in the words, "I SHOULD LIKE TO HAVE HAD," or in the words, "I SHOULD HAVE LIKED TO HAVE." Now, which of these two modes the speaker or writer should select depends entirely upon the particular idea which that person seeks to convey. It is really and essentially a matter of TENSE. Throwing myself back to a particular point or period of time in the past, I can say, "I SHOULD HAVE LIKED TO HAVE," but if I take up my position in the present, I must say, "I SHOULD LIKE TO HAVE HAD." Now, in the case of the exceptional double perfect referred to above, the speaker or writer takes up his position in the past, and reflects upon a period of time still further back in the past. Have you caught the distinction? Think it over.

—"THE PROFESSOR."

Anglican Church

Sunday next, a Memorial Service for Fallen Heroes at 7.30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. H. Clay. Subject of the address "Where Are the Dead?" Sunday School at 2.30 p.m. as usual. Superintendent, Mrs. F. Wright. A hearty welcome to all.

A service will be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday, May 13th, and will be conducted by the Rev. H. Clay.

This is precisely the limit: A waiter in an American cafe beat up a patron of the place because he ordered German-fried potatoes. The next thing we know will be the elimination of sausages from the bill of fare.

Privates James and John Gladstone, of Mountain Mill, were reported wounded in last week's casualties.

"Birth of a Nation."

Quite the most wonderful of the many scenes pictured in "The Birth of a Nation" is that showing Sherman's march to the sea and the burning of the City of Atlanta. Imagine if you can a view of a long, fertile valley extending for miles, apparently between the hills. Moving through this valley, in straggling formation, or look of formation, is the army of General Sherman. The view is so extensive that the soldiers appear but little larger than ants, yet the photograph is so clear that the form of each man is perfectly delineated.

Now and then a puff of smoke indicates return fire upon snipers in farm buildings. Now and then a barn is fired in evident retaliation for a deadly bullet from its shelter, and the army of human ants is ever moving forward, wriggling its way like a huge serpent towards its goal—the sea.

Atlanta is reached. Whether the burning of the city was a military necessity, or whether the conflagration was of accidental origin, chroniclers of the time fail to agree, but Atlanta was sacrificed to the flames and the conflagration is so realistically pictured in "The Birth of a Nation" that one can almost smell the smoke, and hear the cries of the terrified people as they flee to the hills for their lives. Few make any attempt to save household effects, so great is their haste to escape the flames and the hated Yankees. Up the hills they rush, men, women and little children; an endless parade of history, dear and hopelessness.

Sherman's army has cut its fearful swathe through the heart of the South. Another link has been forged in the chain that shall bind the confederacy to the stake. Another move has been made in the big war game that is to end at Appomattox Court House with the surrender of Lee.

It is a wonderful picture in very truth. Nothing like it has ever appeared on the screen, and it took a vast amount of labor and infinite patience to stage such a spectacle.

This wonderful picture in all its original entirety will be seen at the Blairmore Opera House Friday, May 18, the entire musical score will be played. This opportunity will never be offered here again.

To An Old Tin Bonnet

Put on your old tin bonnet

With your khaki paint upon it.

And we'll fill our glasses to the "Day".

Though it rains, storms and drenches.

We are going to the trenches.

For 'tis our relieving day.

Yes, you need your old tin bonnet

When the shrapnel rains upon it.

If you hadn't got one you would be

"fin".

You'd be planted 'neath the clover

In a spot far off from Dover.

With the decoration—It. I. P.

So here's to the old tin bonnet

With khaki paint upon it.

It has shielded us from the rain of H.E.

It is dirty scratched and dented

But the best thing yet invented

For my comrades—and for me.

—B. H. B. Fleetfoot.

Blairmore, 24th April, 1917.

To the Editor of the "Enterprise":

Sir:-

In the opening number of "Frankness from Frank" appears an article which takes me to task for proposing against the "rum ration." In so far as the article makes any attempt at argument, it is thoroughly met by my letter of reply to Private Pest, which appears in last issue. In so far as the article devotes itself to mudslinging, to charges of "hypo-crisy," and to sneering at those who stand for principle, it deserves nothing but contempt; for it stamps itself as unworthy of a place in the editorial section of what is otherwise an excellent production, and a credit to the enterprise and ability of the boys at the "San."

It is to be expected that the register of a protest such as I have made will touch the sore spot on many an individual. I have had long experience of that. And I have found that straight talk on the use of alcohol invariably makes some person yell like a stuck pig. However, for my part, I speak my mind, absolutely without fear or favor; and I am not one to be shooed away by any valley of inaudience. I hope I have made myself clear. I have never yet allowed myself to be "muzzled" by any living man or woman; and it is not my purpose to have the process begin in Blairmore. I am not in the habit of mincing words, whether on the platform or in the public press; and when I hit hard, let me assure all and sundry that, so long as I have a tongue to speak and a pen to write, I will never hesitate to strike for truth, and to stand up for what I believe.

I am, Sir,
yours very truly,
EDWIN HERBERT GRAY.

Bar Liquor in U. S. From the Soldiers

Washington, April 28.—In its first vote on the administration army bill today the senate adopted a most drastic prohibition amendment making it unlawful to sell or give any liquor, wine or beer to officers or men in uniform or knowingly furnish liquor to any person in the army.

In the senate general debate was ended and voting began on amendments. The first was on a section offered by Senator McKellar, broadening a proposal by the military committee to prohibit the sale or possession of intoxicating liquors at any military post or in any enlisted men's or officers' club. It was adopted.

By a vote of 45 to 13 the senate adopted an amendment by Senator Underwood to make the prohibition against possessing liquor apply to any number of congress while in the presence of troops.

In the house a proposal by Representative Miller of Minnesota to substitute the senate bill limit from 15 to 20 years for the 21 to 40 years limit of the house bill was defeated 270 to 6. So overwhelming was this defeat that it was predicted the house conferees would insist on the forty limit in the conference.

Total of 714 Machines Brought Down in April

London, May 2.—"Seven hundred and fourteen aeroplanes were brought down on the western front in April," says the Times. "There has not been a month of such fighting since the war began, and the loss never reached such a tremendous figure.
July of last year when the allied offensive on the Somme began, there were 185 British, French and German machines brought down, and the
tember when the losses reached the highest mark, it was 322."

"The total of 714 which is compiled from the daily communiques of the British, French and German headquarters, is made up as follows:
German machines 266; British 147; French, Belgian (with the necessary qualifications that the German claims are trustworthy) 201."

"Of 366 German aeroplanes brought down 269 fell to the British, 95 to the French and two to the Belgians."
"British aircraft accounted for 265 of these 269 German machines brought down on the British line and anti-aircraft gunners for the other six."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

"THE sole head of a family, or any male over 16 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The application must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry in person may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency but not Sub-Agency at the time."

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in the case of a homestead claimant may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 20 acres on certain conditions. A suitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

Pre-emption may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.
In certain districts a homestead in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside its homestead. Price $5.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after entry for pre-emption, also 20 acres under cultivation. Pre-emption claims may be obtained as soon as homestead claims on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $5 per acre.
Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 20 acres and erect a

Bellevue Happenings

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Nick Gramatis, a son.

J. Whiller made a business trip to Pincher Creek this week.

The Misses Williams(2) returned home this week from Calgary.

Pte. Charles Burrows, senior, arrived home from England on Wednesday morning.

W. Priem, who had been visiting his home in the U.S.A., returned to Bellevue on Monday.

The next time Bellevue has a tournament they intend to gather up a bunch of "scrubs."

E.C. and Mrs. Law came up from Carmangay to attend the funeral of his brother's child.

Quite a number of local I.O.O.F. members attended the anniversary service at Blairmore on Sunday afternoon last.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans, of Coleman, spent a few days in Bellevue this week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Morgan.

Word was received this week that Private John Drevenski, who enlisted with the 175th at Medicine Hat, had died of wounds.

Much sympathy is expressed for the Rev. and Mrs. A.J. Law in the death of their little nine-month-old daughter. The little one had only been ill a few days and death came rather unexpectedly on Saturday night last. Interment took place at the Hillcrest cemetery on Monday afternoon, Rev. W.T. Young, of Frank, officiating.

The Bellevue billiard team went to Hillcrest on Friday last and entertained the famous team of our neighboring town to a licking. Following was the score:

Bellevue—T. Dugdale 160, H. Varley 150, J. Dugdale 150, P. Chappell 150, A. J. Kelly 150, total 750.

Hillcrest—J. Priem 96, J. Calderwood 91, P. Haggerty 120, G. Blackey 88, A. Mariell 138, total 539.

Local and General

The snow-fall at Pincher Creek last week measured 8 1/2 inches.

Lieut. H. M. Bennett, of Blairmore, has been wounded in action.

Last week frost in California damaged the peach, prune and grape crop to the extent of about five million dollars.

The banana blossoms were blighted by the frost on Friday night last, but the peaches are still in galore and in good order.

"Dad" is more than pleased with the provincial government for amending the game laws, providing that the shooting of Cranes is prohibited at all times.

The railways in the United States at the present time have in their possession 24,000 cars of the C.P.R. alone. These they may retain indefinitely by paying 45c daily per car.

Any man, in any community, who amasses a fortune and dies without having left any of that money for public service, but leaves it to curse his own degenerate progeny, dies dishonored.

Being refused the privilege of defending himself, a PURELY INNOCENT man was today convicted in a local court on the sole evidence of a woman. The matter is being taken up with the authorities.

Wealth has been the curse of Western Canada, so said an eminent preacher in a sermon at Calgary on Sunday. Generally, this may have been the fact, but the country newspaper seems to have escaped.

They know that you buy "in the light"--that you want to know about commodities and their selling prices--that you have abandoned the old habit of "shopping around" and that you visit stores with previously formed plans for your buying.

Knowing these things, live merchants tell you their store news in every issue of this paper.

Frank Happenings

BORN—On Saturday morning, April 28, to Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sherring, a son.

David Muir left for Lethbridge on Tuesday night.

Mrs. W. Rinsator, of Burma, was in town on Tuesday, visiting friends.

John R. MacDonald, went to Calgary by Tuesday night's train.

Mrs. Briscoe visited friends at Coleman on Tuesday.

Mr. McEwen, manager of the Weston house, Calgary, was in town on Wednesday of this week.

A number of citizens visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Niven on Monday night, where a very pleasant surprise was sprung upon the respected couple. On behalf of the party, John R. MacDonald, in a neat speech, outlined the object of the raid, and concluded by presenting to Mr. Niven a beautiful fishing set, including rod, basket, reel, line and landing net, and to Mrs. Niven a handsome electric parlor lamp. In the course of his remarks, Mr. MacDonald, eulogized the sterling qualities of Mr. Niven as a citizen and his abilities as an engineer, and expressed the wish that wherever their future lot would be cast that health, happiness and prosperity would ever with them abide. In reply, Mr. Niven, on behalf of his wife and himself, thanked the kind friends, and assured them that in days to come they would have just reason to recall the many pleasant faces and events which had been theirs to enjoy in this famous town. A programme of vocal and instrumental selections followed, in which many talented folks, including Mr. W. Shaw, of Blairmore, took part.

Frank, Alberta,

April 30th, 1917.

Editor Enterprise.

Dear Sir: I am pleased to learn that our esteemed friend and fellow citizen, Mr. Thomas Dawson, of Frank, has been successful in passing his examination for a third-class engineer's certificate, with rating for 200 h.p. It has been remarked in the past that the above-named T. Dawson, of Frank, did not appear in the room at Lethbridge for examination. Would like to ask how he managed to get this certificate if he did not write at the last examination for engineers. Yours, etc., Engineer.

Cowley Happenings

J. L. Parker, of Burnie, was a Cowley visitor on Monday.

F. W. Godsal has returned to the ranch, after spending the winter in Victoria, B.C.

The Cowley U.F.A. store has enlarged its premises by taking over the other half of the Miles Block.

Miss Annie Welsh has taken the position of ledger keeper in the Union Bank here, vacated by her sister, Miss Ethel Welsh.

Jas. Dooner made a flying visit to Pincher Creek last Saturday night and returned with Mrs. Dooner and the new daughter Sunday morning.

A solid week of snow buries with cold weather has badly delayed farm operations in this district, but with Monday's fine outlook things have brightened up. As usual, nobody ever saw the like before.

May Establish Hospital At Beaver Mines

Major H. E. Doering and H. Struthbury, secretary of the Central Provincial Committee, working in connection with the Military Hospitals Commission, were visitors to Beaver Mines on Wednesday, looking over the facilities for a hospital for convalescent soldiers there. They report conditions as favorable and have also included a statement of climatic conditions with their report.—Pincher Creek Echo.

Outside Civilization's Rule

The End of the House of Hohenzollern Is Clearly in Sight

In the interests of the German state and people it is necessary that some other than a Hohenzollern should be the recognized head of the House of Hohenzollern has a dark record of crimes against the public peace, against the rights and the freedom of other states. His plots are too deep, too far-reaching, too dangerous to be longer put up with. It is sought to place a Hohenzollern upon the throne of Spain; it did extend its controlling influence over the thrones of Greece, Bulgaria and Roumania. The civilized and peaceful nations of the world have other and more profitable occupations than watching forever the machinations of the Hohenzollerns and guarding themselves against deadly perils from that quarter. And the immeasurable, incalculable will fervently hope, the last, imperial representative of that house demands that the doom decreed against Napoleon 102 years be entered against him. The Hohenzollerns are outside civilization's pale. —From the New York Times

Had Fourteen Fits In One Afternoon

BUT IS MADE WELL AND STRONG BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mr. R. J. Thompson of Uxbridge, tells the story of his terrible fits. "I had fourteen fits in one afternoon and almost lost my life. I was taken very suddenly. I ate my dinner and went to take a nap. I just got about three-quarters of the way when I was taken with a convulsion fit. I had fourteen fits after that and the third day I was cured. The doctors said I could not live and if I did I would never be able to do anything again as I had chronic Bright's Disease. But thank God, I am doing my own work once again, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Bright's Disease is the most advanced stage of kidney disease. It can be avoided if the earlier stages of kidney trouble are remedied by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Crimes of Germany
Can Never Live Down Disgrace of Her Acts
The history of the war may be forgotten, the terrible stories told by the commissions that investigated the crimes committed in Belgium may pass from memory, but the story of Germany's crimes will live forever in the painting and cartoons of the artists who have depicted them. Germany never can live down the disgrace of her deeds, for these great cartoons have found permanent places in the picture galleries of Europe. They will hang there as a constant reminder of the nation that emerged a barbarian through its thin veil of civilization. As long as the great galleries of Europe maintain these pictures, Germany must face the disgrace. Can they ever again lead their Kultur?

And, while artists of Holland and the United States, as well as those of the entire continent, are picturing the deeds committed in the name of Germany no great artist has arisen to prevent a pictorial defence for the Kaiser. This is one phase of the war in which Germany has no defence. And the punishment will continue longer than the lives of those who perpetrated the horrible crimes.—From the Ottawa Free Press

With the C. P. R. In Early Days

Interesting Reminiscences of a Veteran Passenger Official

C. E. McPherson, the assistant passenger traffic manager of the C. P. R., with headquarters at Winnipeg, and who is at present in the city, has early recollections of the big system which replaced the old St. James street hotel which flourished in the early days, when "Mime Host" Hogan, of the St. Lawrence Hall, and "Dolly" of the famous chop house near the Tattersall's, were picturesque and familiar figures. The city had then about 25,000 of a population. The company was just getting on its feet. The head office for a time was in the old Imperial building, next to the Bank of Montreal. It then went down to Victoria square to the old Albert building. There was a second ticket office at the corner of St. James street and Cathedral street, and there Mr. McPherson acted as district passenger agent. The habit then was to scout the country for prospective passengers, and it was a common sight to see the company through its courteous representatives going through the wilderness capturing groups of people of whom it had been learned that they intended to go to such and such a place. That was the day of small things, but everybody was seized with the spirit of endeavor, and business was obtained through possibly in a primitive way compared with the present methods. There was a degree of camaraderie and brotherhood expressed by the officials of the company which would be impossible now. Mr. McPherson was sent to larger duties to Winnipeg, and has seen that western city grow from small beginnings until it has reached the proportions of a great modern city of cosmopolitan and varied interests.

German Chancellor Can See Which Way the Wind Is Veering
Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg must have had some information about the Russian revolution, when he told the reichstag that after the war the people would be granted all sorts of freedom and cooperation in the administration of the empire.

"Woe to the statesman," he declared, "who does not recognize the signs of the times. There are some exceedingly plain signs stick up for statesmen to be blind. Look at Russia. Kaiser Ferdinand, King Constantine, and a few more to study."

The German chancellor's speech may be an attempt to take cover, but the people, once awakened, will not be satisfied with promises of what may happen after the war. They empty stomachs demand something immediate and nourishing. When they hear what the Russian people have done, not to end the war, but to prosecute it with greater vigor than ever against the Kaiser and his rule, they may decide to take the same steps the people of Russia have taken, to rid themselves of a burden too heavy to carry.—From the Toronto Evening Post

Recruiting Campaign Throughout the Dominion for Serbians

Something new in Canadian military circles will be witnessed at Camp Sussex, the central training camp for New Brunswick, this summer. If plans now announced, work out successfully.

The military authorities have decided to open a recruiting campaign throughout the Dominion for Serbians, who are anticipated this summer 1,000 to 1,500 men of this race will be enlisted during the spring and summer of 1917. As the recruits are signed on, they will be sent direct to Sussex to receive their military training.

Although they will be recruited by the Canadian authorities, the Serbians will not become members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, but will be sent forward to aid their fellows in the task of redeeming their native country from the Bulgarian invaders.

The Russian Revolution

The First Visible Sign of the Democratization of all the World

One must go back at least to 1848, when all Europe was seething in revolt, to parallel the thrill that this world-wide revolution has brought everywhere, and to the utmost ends of the earth will that thrill permeate. It is the first visible sign of that democratization of all the world which must come if civilization is to avoid the ruin of the unparalleled bloodshed of this unspeakable world-war. This spectacle of a nation rising to free itself from the shackles of a foreign yoke is a sign for the future, must quicken every one's faith in humanity, as it brings vision to the Russia enlightened, modernized, freed from its fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul that has been the tomb of its patriots, and from that Siberia which has spelled for all the world supreme suffering for freedom—the last word in crushing, autocratic domination of an aspiring, liberty-seeking people.

The worst of it from the point of view of the Conservatives who learn nothing, is that once you let these things get along, there is no telling what they will achieve or where they will stop. The French revolution was this, and so did that of 1848; and there is no part of the earth today where the forces of liberalism will not be quickened. There is no man anywhere who desires a world peace, a world free from the twin evils of military and autocratic power, who does not read of the fall of the czar, breathe anew, and say: "The Kaiser next." —From the New York Evening Post

MORE CONTROL FOR SELECTION OF IMMIGRANTS NOW RECOMMENDED DOMINIONS ROYAL COMMISSION MAKES REPORT

It is Also Regarded as Vital to the Empire that the Natural Resources be Safeguarded from any Pressure Which a Foreign Power Might Exercise to Secure Control of Raw Materials

The final report of the Dominions Royal Commission sets forth numerous conclusions and recommendations which it brings to the notice of the imperial and dominions governments.

It declares, regarding the scientific development of natural resources, that it is vital the Empire be placed in a position enabling it to resist any pressure which a foreign power, or a group of nations, might exert in time of peace or war through control of essential raw materials and commodities.

It recommends that a complete survey should accordingly be made of the relation between production and empire requirements of such materials.

With reference to such materials and commodities as are mainly produced and controlled outside of the Empire, such as cotton, petroleum, nitrates and potash, the most careful inquiry is needed regarding the possibility of new sources of supply or the finding of substitutes within the Empire. Survey and investigation in this respect should be entrusted to the new imperial development board, which should work through existing departments in the United Kingdom and self-governing dominions and local scientific departments and the Imperial Institute for India, the Crown colonies and protectorates.

The report recommends far greater control by imperial and overseas grants, the creation of an imperial immigration authority for the purpose of supervision, and a further extension of board to effect a proper co-ordination between the central authority and the activities of the dominions.

It urges the need of providing adequate capital, training and assistance for intending soldier-settlers and far greater attention to the emigration of women from Great Britain and increasing the same.

A proposal is made for the interchange of school teachers between the United Kingdom and the dominions.

The report emphasizes the necessity of cheap, speedy and efficient transport and recommends larger vessels and larger harbors. For this, improvement of the schemes should be supervised by the imperial development board.

The commission suggests improved mail facilities, quicker service and more measure of government control of steamship companies regarding freight.

Cheaper cabling is regarded as an urgent necessity. The report states that the Dominion Royal Commission favors state control of imperial wire and the commissioners recommend state acquisition.

A considerable reduction in press rates is proposed to enable a wide dissemination of imperial news. Dealing with trade relations, the commissioners advocate the speeding up of the intelligence system, the holding of periodic inter-imperial exhibitions and the unification of legislation, particularly the patents, trade marks and companies laws.

Regarding the creation of an imperial development board, the commissioners express the view that existing organizations are inadequate to deal with matters of joint interest to the empire as a whole, such as the scientific development of natural resources, the deepening of harbors on a co-ordinated plan, cable service and the preparation of statistics. In its initial stage the board should be advisory. The following representation is suggested: Canada, India, the Crown colonies and protectorates, seven South African, New Zealand, New South Wales, New Zealand and Newfoundland, one each.

A French soldier had been shot in the leg, and was taken to the hospital for treatment. For some time the surgeon probed the wound, until at last the sufferer demanded impatiently what he was doing. Bagdad Taken at The Right Time

British Prestige Regained in Far East by Justice to Mohammedans

Of the four holy cities of the east, Mecca, Medina and Bagdad, Bagdad is in the hands of the allies, and any day may come the announcement that the fourth of them, Jerusalem, has fallen. The news will have special interest to Canadians, as the army under Sir Archibald Murray has been in the city since it is made up of Australians, New Zealanders, Canadians and the pick of the Indian troops who have been training in Egypt for the past two years. We may be sure that when the ends meet of these cities will be restored to Turkey, and that the British flag will float over them as the empire endures. Though Mecca is the greatest of the sacred cities, according to the Moslems, the fall of Bagdad will make a greater impression throughout the east than did the news that the great sheriff of Mecca had declared the independence of the Holy Land. The authority and had raised an army to make good his declaration.

His wealth is largely invested in foreign bonds and stocks. His holdings on this side are said to be extensive. It is understood that he owns $5,000,000 of the Pennsylvania railroad's stocks. His name does not appear in the lists of that corporation's stockholders for obvious reasons. Instead some nominal owners appear.

Most of the Czar's cash is deposited in the Bank of England. The estimates of his deposits there are numerous. They run from fifty to a hundred million pounds.

He ex-Czar also owns about 600,000 acres of land in Russia. Most of Russia's mineral resources are his private property. Into the Czar's treasury are poured the proceeds of the gold and silver output, is annually contributed.

It is not known whether the Czar will be allowed to retire from the throne the richest man in the world. There are some who believe that the transfer of his financial resources to those of Russia will be one of the first steps of the new Russian master of finance. It would undoubtedly affect the exchange of the ruble tremendously. It would make Russia financially stronger than the czar was.

When the ex-Czar's American stocks were confiscated they might be sold. It is pointed out, for the purchase of munitions and other material here for the Russian army. That would immediately raise the ruble exchange to nearly the normal standard.

A spirit of thrift has encompassed the Italian people. In 1914 the national savings amounted to $1,519,000,000.

The department of finance at Ottawa is circulating the Dominion to discover real and personal property in Canada and territory belonging to enemy subjects and to ascertain claims of British subjects against enemy subjects or governments.

The letter now being distributed, reads: The minister of finance for Canada has been appointed public custodian of enemy property in Canada, under the provisions of the War Measures Act in council respecting trading with the enemy, assented to May 2nd 1915.

In view of such orders-in-council and of the proclamation of his excellency the governor-general, issued Feb. 12, 1915, and published in the Canada Gazette on the 17th of the same month, it is important that full information should be obtained with regard to all property, real and personal, in Canadian territory belonging to enemy subjects, and also with regard to all property, real and personal, in enemy territory belonging to British subjects, together with claims of British subjects may have against enemy governments.

In order to comply with the directions contained in these orders, returns are required from all British subjects, firms or corporations resident or carrying on business in Canada, who are directly or indirectly interested in any matters coming within the classes of subjects following:

(1) Property, real or personal, in Canadian territory, belonging to enemy subjects;

(2) Debts, including bank deposits and promissory notes, held on behalf of enemy subjects resident or carrying on business in enemy territory, or due to the chief on behalf of enemy subjects resident in Canada;

(3) Property, real or personal, in enemy territory, belonging to British subjects resident or carrying on business in Canada;

(4) Claims of British subjects resident or carrying on business in Canada against enemy governments;

If you are directly or indirectly interested in any of the classes of subjects mentioned set forth be good enough to advise the department of finance, Ottawa, of the same, and to forward you desire to make a return when the necessary form will be sent you.

Germany Must Have Speed

Always Counted on a Quick Decision to Win the War

Time appears to be the chief factor in Germany's calculation. From the beginning of the war the dominant idea of her strategy has been to strike for a swift decision, and avoid a war of attrition.

The news that the German fleet had been sighted in the North Sea, and that it was making for the coast of England, has been interpreted by the German mind. "A highly organized autocratic government which controls its own public opinion can act sharply, 'get the jump' on lumbering democracies and inefficient empires. Speed can make up for inferior resources." Reasoning this way, the first theory was that France could be eliminated before Britain's strength could be accumulated. The present theory seems to be that Britain can be eliminated before America's strength can be made to count.

But the Germans undoubtedly know that they fall within the next few months they are utterly lost. In a war of attrition our resources would be depleted faster than the Germans can succeed at once they must fail terribly.

Germany has never been able to win a battle because it can end only one way. Her superior technique is disorganized and inefficient. The quick decision—the proclamation of unlimited submarine war means that Germany faces and cannot endure a war of attrition. It strikes there more violently at England, the backbone of the coalition—New Republic.

Comparison of The Two Blockades

Germany's Methods of Blockade Never Had a Shadow of Validity

The difference between the British and German blockades is easily stated and in a few words. The British blockade is physical and effective, and therefore valid against international law; it is directed against the lives of neutrals; and it is conducted under the legal sanction of the prize courts.

The German blockade is rather its declaration of intention to blockade, makes no pretense to observe international law. It is a declaration of Paris, to which Prussia was a subscriber in 1856. It proposes that all ships of war and all British ports and seize and condemn as prizes ships that try to enter with contraband cargo, and all merchant marines over wide areas of the high seas and sink indiscriminately without warning the ships of all nations found in such zones.

Crews of such vessels are to have no chance for their lives and their owners no chance to establish their rights in prize courts.

The German declaration is recent enough to be remembered. It was summed up in the one sentence, "All ships met within the zone will be sunk." This declaration was made in the German March 15, 1915, probably is so far from the minds of most people in minds "seeking to justify" the American course, and it may be well to repeat its terms: Sir Edward Grey said:

"The government of Great Britain has frankly declared, in concert with the government of France, its intention to meet the German attempt to stop all supplies of every kind from reaching the British or French ports by themselves stopping supplies going to or from Germany. For this purpose the British fleet has constituted a blockade, effectively controlled by cruiser cordon all passages to or from Germany by sea."

The differences between this measure and the German blockade are, however, that, while our object is the same as that of Germany, we propose to attain it without sacrificing neutral ships or non-combatant lives or inflicting upon neutrals the damage that must be entailed when a vessel and its cargo are sunk without notice, examination or trial. I must emphasize that this measure is a natural and necessary consequence of the unprecedented methods, resorted to by Germany, and that it is a measure which has been constantly accumulating."

Germany's methods of blockade never had the shadow of validity, and as much was tacitly admitted when the German government announced that it would abandon them after the sinking of the Sussex. The American government had then notified the German government of its continuance of diplomatic relations was dependent upon that abandonment.

Now, however, the German government serves notice of the withdrawal of its pledge and its purpose to continue its blockade, its illegal and inhuman methods of sea warfare. The United States took the only action it could take and its notice, and it is not "totting fat," as between the combatants, but with its own citizens, whose property is being threatened—Kansas City Times.

Some men are born great and others roll up their trousers and wade right into greatness.

A correspondent at the front, watching the sight of a great army pursuing a foe, and trying to realize the magnitude of the amazing labor and effort such a process involves, describes his impressions.

The lines which the British held for four months behind Bapaume are deserted. When the correspondent came to Bapaume the British troops were miles away. That is one knew exactly, though in the distance the boom of field pieces could be constantly heard. Neither side was using heavy guns then—the time for them had just arrived.

The road from Abbeville where the statue of the virginity horizontally from the top of the ruined cathedral tower, the German lines had been placed, right up past Bapaume was an unforgettable spectacle. The British soldiers, packed way days before and now everything had been pushed the Boche back past the Hindenburg line of defense was being brought up for their support.

The road everywhere was crowded with every possible variety of vehicle, from the smallest motor car to hordes of huge motor lorries, bearing supplies of all descriptions.

They were all crowded by at great speed. Teams of American mules were hauling great wagons loaded with supplies. The British horses were drawing wagons laden with supplies. The British soldiers were pushing the Boche back past the Hindenburg line of defense was being brought up for their support.

The question of the future of Austria is now regarded as one of purely military expediency even by the most markedly anti-Austrian elements, and it appears to the Russian authorities that the time has arrived when the entente might decide on an Austrian policy with the object of procuring a separate peace, with real guarantees for the rights of European nationalities and of dual monarchy.

The Peninsular and Oriental line steamship Ballarat of 11,320 gross tons, which was used as a troop ship, was sunk recently by a German submarine. All troops were saved. The Ballarat was carrying troops from Australia to England. The soldiers were rescued by British torpedo boat destroyers and trawlers. The behavior of the troops on board the Ballarat was splendid, according to reports, and recalls the heroism displayed at the time of the sinking of the British troopship Birkenhead off the African coast in 1852. The Ballarat was 500 feet long, 62 feet beam and 37 feet deep. She was built at Greenock in 1911.
